CELEBRATE

Five Anniversaries in One Day
At Indianapolis.

Eld. and Mrs. E. L. Frazier, Married in Jeffersontown, Celebrate Golden Wedding—Kentucky Friends Present.

Seatonville, Sept. 26.—A few Kentucky friends attended the golden wedding of Elder and Mrs. E. L. Frazier, of St. Petersburg, Fla., in Indianapolis last Saturday, Sept. 23. While celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Roy Arthur Potts, of South New Jersey street, they also celebrated the thirty-seventh anniversary of the marriage of Mrs. Frazier's sister, Mrs. J. E. Perisho, of Charleston, Ill.; the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Walter Howe; the fourteenth anniversary of the marriage of their son, O. O. Frazier, and the third anniversary of the marriage of their granddaughter, Mrs. Reid B. Laycock.

The house was decorated with our national flower, "The Golden Rod," and many flowers sent to Mr. and Mrs. Frazier by their many friends. The bride of fifty years was given in a beautiful white dress of mull and lace, carried a lovely bouquet of white roses tied with white ribbon, all of which was in touch with her beautiful snowy white hair. The appointments were carried out in gold. The guest favors were booklets, bearing the dates of the anniversaries. The cover was embossed with wedding bells in gold. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Frazier, were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Perisho, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Howe, Mr. and Mrs. O. Frazier, of Morrisstown, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Laycock, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Potts, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Howe, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ransell, Miss Helen Howe and Miss Margaret Ragdale assisted in the dining room. Among the guests from a distance were Mrs. S. H. Mosher, of Chillicothe, Ohio, who was a bridesmaid in the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Frazier; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Miller and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Perisho, of Charleston, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Coffey, of Marion, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Keefe, of Louisville, Ind., Mrs. Taylor Carpenter, of Fisherville, Ky., Mr. Frank Jean, wife and son, Ward, and Mr. K. S. Mills and wife, of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Frazier were married in the grand old town of Jeffersontown, in the Christian church. The only thing that reminds some of us of this happy union is the fact that their father, Elder S. F. Miller, who is well known to the older residents of Jeffersontown, had just recently passed to his reward at the ripe age of 94 years. He sang a grand and sweet old song at this marriage, which was an uncommon feature of a wedding.

Mr. Frazier has been in the ministry of the Christian church for forty-eight years, was pastor in many towns, including Kokomo, Marion, Franklin, Morrisstown, Dayton and Alliance, Ohio, and Erie, Penn. For several years he was engaged in evangelistic service. At present he is minister of the Christian church at the grand old town of St. Petersburg, Fla., and will leave three loving children, nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild to resume his duties in Florida Sept. 26.

The presents on this occasion were many, useful, valuable and beautiful. Their many friends wish for them many more anniversaries. Their Kentucky friends, who had the good fortune to attend this golden wedding, want to say it was a grand occasion with them, and Kentucky hospitality certainly courses through their veins, as all did all in their power to make them enjoy themselves. Mr. Walter Howe, a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Frazier, and a well-to-do insurance man of Indianapolis, kept his auto on the road and continually, taking friends to and from the cars, viewing the lovely and beautiful city. They will never forget this sweet communion with friends and loved ones. I was glad to be in company with the golden and lovely character of Fisherville, and hope to meet all the loved ones where partings are not known. I fear all of us will never meet again on earth.

Lectures at Methodist S. S.

Dr. W. T. Bruner and Mr. C. J. Nugent, Jr., president of the Jefferson County Sunday-school Association, will lecture at the Jeffersontown Methodist Sunday-school next Sunday morning beginning at 9:45 o'clock. Dr. Bruner's subject will be "Grading," and Mr. Nugent's subject will be "A Complete Sunday-school." It is the purpose of the superintendent and teachers to grade the school next Sunday and a full attendance of the membership is desired. Both speakers of the day are expert Sunday-school workers and a large crowd should greet them. The exercises will take the place of the regular preaching services, as the pastor is away attending conference. Everybody will be welcome.

SEATONVILLE.

Attended Wedding of Niece—Wedding and Golden Wedding—Rumor Reports Another.

Seatonville, Sept. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips are visiting relatives and around Camp Point. The Phillips family attended the wedding of Mrs. Phillips' niece, Miss Ophelia Funk, daughter of Mr. Jim Funk, to Mr. Harry Ommer. Miss Ophelia visited her aunt a few years ago and we became acquainted and learned to love her in that short visit and feel sure that Mr. Ommer has won a prize of great worth. We wish for them a long life of joy and happiness.

Our quiet little village of Seatonville had no news of importance this week had it not been for the golden wedding, which is published in another column, and Miss Funk's wedding. I should not have added anything, but a golden wedding is a feature in life that not many of us are privileged to enjoy. Mr. and Mrs. Mills have attended three, however, the parents of our much admired Dry Ridge news writer, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Reid and Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Carrithers, of Mt. Washington, being the others. All were certainly enjoyable occasions, but all on these two occasions have gone and left sorrowing loved ones, save one. Mr. E. O. Carrithers is still alive.

Madam Honor tells us Mr. Albert Spears, one of our neighbor boys, is to marry Miss Hallie Robinson next Saturday. We wish them joy and happiness.

Mr. Leonard Daugherty filled the Cedar Springs place in E. L. Jorgensen's place, he being in a meeting at Cincinnati.

OKOLONA.

Sept. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Brown, Mesdames Edna and Jessie Scott and son were entertained by Mrs. J. E. Thorne Sunday.

Mesdames Sue James and Amelia Clark spent Friday and Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howell, of South Louisville.

Dr. R. B. Nutter, wife and children, of Enterprise, West Va., arrived Monday to spend some time with her parents here.

Mrs. D. A. Bates and son and Miss Edna Bates are visiting relatives in Jeffersonville.

Mrs. Archie Dent, of Louisville, spent Wednesday with Mrs. Frank Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Kirk had as guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Jenkins and family.

Mrs. James Smith, of Jeffersontown, is with Mr. and Mrs. James Scott.

Miss Mamie Hays is attending the Teachers' Institute in Shepherdsville this week.

Miss Virginia Bell is visiting her sister, Miss Niva Bell, of Louisville. Misses Ida and Edna Beeler, assisted by Mrs. Standford Beeler, entertained the Embroidery Club Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Thorne and children and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bell and daughter were guests of P. H. Brown's family Sunday.

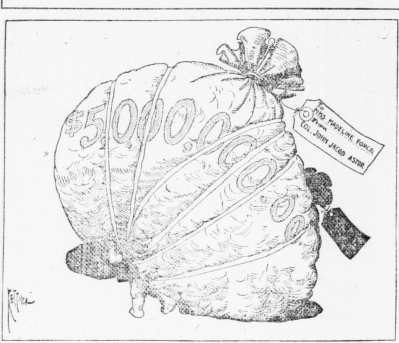

Miss Georgia May Queen entertained the "Sons Society" club Wednesday afternoon. Those present were Misses Virginia Briscoe, Virginia Bell, Edna Beeler, Sarah Mills, Mattie and Marguerite Ireland. Miss Virginia Briscoe will entertain the next time.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that town taxes for Jeffersontown are now due and must be paid by December 1, 1911, under penalty of the law.

SOME PUM'KINS

Writes A. B. C. of the Folks at St. Matthews.

Splendid Write-Up of Ice Cream Supper at Springdale—All The News Along Route 19.

St. Matthews, Sept. 25.—Visiting and visitors is the order of the day at the capital, St. Matthews. Miss Gertrude and Miss Edith Hashman from Indianapolis, are visiting Mrs. Holzheimer and Miss Julia Dorsey. Last Wednesday a motor party was given here, which was very enjoyable, indeed, as it included many young people from this neighborhood, and showed all the advantages of living among the "Snails." They had to acknowledge such roads and suburban joys compared very favorably with their home comforts. You see, we are enlarging our borders and steadily growing, and feel that we are, to say the least, "some pumpkins."

Miss Robertson gave a theatre party Wednesday afternoon in honor of Misses Hashman, followed by a dance Wednesday night given by Mr. Chas. Neuner.

Mrs. Matthew Brady will give a dancing party Thursday evening for the Misses Hashman to meet the young people of this vicinity.

Miss Mabelle Raley's guests from Madison have returned home after being entertained in the lovely manner of the Rudy home.

Mrs. Logan, of Shelbyville, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Fenley. Mrs. Strancker and daughter, Mary Thores, left a few days since for a visit to relatives and friends in Jordan, Indiana.

Charles Stabler, one of our boys who graduated at K. M. L., has entered a technical college in Georgia to learn civil engineering. We wish him success in this undertaking.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Dick are visiting friends at Goslen.

Mrs. Otto Bennett entertained the Beargrass Ladies' Aid last Thursday in a lovely and hospitable manner.

Well, to quote the politicians, the ice cream supper at Springdale last Friday night was "nothingless." There far exceeded our expectations. There was a deluge of rain every day, until Friday dawned cold as Christmas. When the committee assembled at four o'clock arrayed in white (true, several of us represented both seasons by donning winter coats) all was rather dismal. Asking, "Will anyone come in this cold?" I said, "Not cold not once be named; we will test suggestion movement"—that is, storming the world at present. We met everybody with "Isn't this a lovely night?" and it worked fine. The waiters soon discarded their sweaters, the Japanese lanterns shed a glow over all, and weather was not in our thoughts again. Then, that lovable and unselfish couple from Lyndon, whose name begins with E, brought in a delegation of young folks, which included a preacher and at least one Smart? girl, and our cup of joy was full. No one could come in contact with those folks could not catch their lively spirit and feel better in every way. Their generosity had no limit. I, for one, was treated to ice cream until I felt like an animated freer, but when I knew it was buying a church carpet and helping the missionaries, then you know we all enjoy getting something free. So, I continued to swallow. These were being full, the visiting preacher's zeal to help along the work was directed to me also, likely because he thought if any had to perish for the cause, I had lived quite a while and could be spared easier. Well, when the jolly crowd started home in the long wagon, actually it was like the "Pied Piper"; many of us went as far as possible with them and all others turned homeward, also, feeling that the best had gone, leaving a lonely memory and hoping to meet again. About sixty dollars was taken in and our borrowed trouble about the weather was all we had to deal with.

Notice to Subscribers.

On account of receiving so many subscriptions to The Jeffersonian during the past few weeks, it has been almost impossible to get every one on the list correctly. Many times a name was sent in with the wrong address, or where the paper was going in one name another name of the family was sent in. This results in the subscriber not getting proper credit and receiving two papers instead of one. You are requested to notify us immediately if you are receiving two papers, or if your paper is being delayed from any cause. Call The Jeffersonian over the Cumberland phone (free service with entire county), or drop us a postal card. The favor will be greatly appreciated.

RIISING IN BUSINESS.

The Road to Success Is Easy For the Exceptional Employee.

Mr. Carnegie says: "The most valuable acquisition to his business which an employer can obtain is an exceptional young man. There is no bargain so fruitful."

By the exceptional young man Mr. Carnegie means the one who is always looking out for his employer's interests, the young man who keeps his eyes open, who is always trying to make suggestions for improvements in the business, who is always studying for some better, simpler, more efficient way of doing things.

The exceptional boy or young man is the one whose main ambition is to help along the business, to further his employer's interests in every possible way; the one who stays after hours during the busy season to help out wherever he can. The exceptional young man is one who when any emergency arises in the concern has a valuable suggestion for its solution. The exceptional young man is the one who settles difficulties among the other employees without rupture, who is always trying to avoid friction, to keep peace and harmony in the firm. He encourages the dull boy or the boy who cannot seem to get hold of the business. He is always ready to give a lift whenever needed and gives a word of cheer to the discouraged. The exceptional young man is the one who is always on the alert for business, who is so polite and attentive and obliging to his customers that they are ready to do with him, who makes friends for the firm, who adds dignity to the house—Orison Sweet Jordan in Success Magazine.

FRENCH LEGAL METHODS.

The Reconstruction of a Crime and an Added Tragedy.

The archaic reconstruction of a crime, which is a feature of French judicial procedure, outlines all ride. And yet an extraordinary case which happened a few days ago at Paris should of itself suffice to make the reconstruction of the crime an impossibility in the future.

A man had a quarrel with a friend and had shot him dead from his window as he was passing in the street. The other day the murderer, with handcuffs on his wrists, was taken from prison to the room from a window of which he had shot and killed his former friend. On the way from prison the crowd had hoisted and yelled at the murderer, and the man up to all of a tremble when he got up to his room. He was given an unloaded gun and told to show the magistrate just how he had committed the murder. He took the gun, climbed on the foot of his bed, and standing on the rail as he had stood when he shot down into the street, leaned forward and took aim. But for a very narrow escape he was hampered by his handcuffs. His foot slipped, and he toppled head first out of the window into the street below and broke his neck.—Paris Letter in London Express.

Next Season's Skirts.

The Ladies' Tailors' association, which was in annual session in New York recently, questioned as to the skirt problem, but the question as to the cut and width of that garment for the coming season was not decided. It was left with a style committee, which is still deliberating. No report has been made, but hints have been dropped to the effect that the "frank skirts" will have no place in fall and winter styles. Commenting on this, a fashionable dressmaker said: "These people may argue, demonstrate and write to their hearts' content, but what they say and what they do are two different things. The time has not yet come when we can create styles for women in this country. The fashionable skirt next season will be what it has always been—made in Paris—New York Tribune.

Pern's Cotton.

In an article on the cotton production of Peru published in "Peru of Today" J. A. Lavalle of Garcia says: "The harvest obtained from cotton in Peru greatly surpasses those of other countries. Practically one may take as an average of Peruvian production per acre 484.4 pounds against the highest average in the United States of America of 308 pounds, in Egypt of 380.4 pounds and India of seventy pounds per acre." Because of the great yield and its "tremendous improvements" the writer thinks that Peru is the country "of all the world which offers the best conditions for the industry today, and these conditions are capable of betterment not alone in the direction of increased zones of cultivation, but in that of intensive cultivation as well."

Downfall on Vesuvius.

On March 12 last the rim of the rim of the latest crater formed on Mount Vesuvius fell, and the descending mass, nearly 1,000 feet in length and 80 in thickness, was so enormous that a distinct shock of earthquake was felt around the mountain. The accident has produced another change in the ever variable outline of the mountain of Vesuvius, and the volcano is described as now having the appearance of being decapitated, the crater looking not only lower than it did before.

Cooking Green Peas.

Put your green peas in a pot and all into the kettle and cook them the usual length of time. When they are done the pods will break and rise to the surface, while the peas may be found at the bottom of the kettle. They have a finer flavor cooked in this way.—National Magazine.

CHAPTER XIV.

Waiting until the coast was clear, Count von Fitz came from his hiding place and discreetly lifted the ladder. "Wait a minute," he said to himself. "Quietly he went into the house and as quietly reappeared in a few moments, carrying the hat box which Lucy had taken from Primmer, and which she had left in the hallway. "Brains in der head beats cash in der pocket," he moralized. He wedged the hatbox under his arm and crawled up the ladder to the window. Tapping gently upon it, he almost fell off the ladder when Mrs. Blazes swung it open. "Be careful, woman!" he urged. "If I fall off this ladder on dis hat you stay in dis house for life!" "Give me the hat! Give me the hat!" Mrs. Blazes exclaimed. "Give me my ring," the count replied. She slipped his ring from her finger and offered it to him hastily. But, with one hand clutching a round of the ladder and the other arm about the hatbox, he was hardly in a position to take it. "How can you?" she spluttered. "It is a ring, not der mumps." "Put the hat in the window; then you can take the ring," she advised. "Did den you get der hat und give me der laugh?" "Nonsense!" she answered. "I never want to see your ring, or you again!" "Der same to you, und many of dem," he retorted, swinging the hatbox around and trying to shove it through the window. She caught hold of it, also, but it was too wide to go through the opening. In the effort to force it through the count lost his balance and came perilously near going down with a crash. He saved himself by clutching the window frame. However, Mrs. Blazes frostily said: "Clumsy! Let me show you." She untied the string on the box, took off the lid and took out the hat.

"Give me the hat!" Mrs. Blazes exclaimed. "Give me my ring," the count replied. She slipped his ring from her finger and offered it to him hastily. However, Mrs. Blazes frostily said: "Clumsy! Let me show you." She untied the string on the box, took off the lid and took out the hat.

"Merciful heavens! My husband!" she wailed. "And he only buries nothing of dem but der hats!" the count retorted, keeping Mrs. Blazes between himself and the general. "So!" the general roared, confronting her. "This has been your plan, has it?" He turned on the count vindictively. "Trying to inveigle my wife out into that house!" "My dear, you are wrong!" Mrs. Blazes wept. "Listen a moment, and I can explain." "Wrong?" Explain? Woman, I see it all now! You have planned an elopement with this—this pretzel!" "Bretzel! Ach Gott! Und I must sound dis!" the count fumed. "What?" Mrs. Blazes demanded. "I elope with that?" She pointed a scornful finger at the count. "Don't try to palaver me!" the general shouted. All this noise and shouting of course was heard by those in the house, and first Harry came running out, followed by Lucy and her father. "What in the world is happening?" Harry asked, rushing up to the excited trio. "I have trapped this wretch!" General Blazes yelled, indicating the count with a gesture of his clenched fist. Harry, helpless, looked from one to the other. Mrs. Blazes, desperate, glanced at him and said: "Mr. Swifton can explain. I have nothing more to say." She assumed an air of supreme indifference to whatever fate might hold in abeyance for her. "Well, Harry," the general said, "it's up to you, tell me how this happened." "Tell you how what happened?" Harry asked, dazedly. "How does it happen that I find my wife trying to climb into your house, assisted by this—moodle." "Noodle! Gott in Himmel! I forget myself yet!" the count cried, turning to his wife. "Oh! What? Trying to climb into my house?" Harry repeated, bristling his hand over his brow. "Why—why it must have been some kind of a joke, general. Yes—surely it was some kind of a joke." "Joke!" the general blurted out. "But why should she want to get into this house, Harry? Lucy asked, with a bit of mischievousness, for now she knew the whole story. "Yes!" the general barked, turning to his wife. "Why should you want to get into his house?" Mrs. Blazes saw light ahead. "My dear, if you will only calm yourself, I will tell you. I know you will think I am a foolish woman—but, darling, I have been jealous of you."

"Jealous of me?" said her liege lord. "Forgive me," she pleaded. "But when I heard those reports about you..." "Reports? What reports?" "That you were infatuated with a milliner—Mlle. Daphne." "I? Infatuated with a milliner?" the general asked, with a look of terribly injured innocence. "I? Ridiculous!" "And I saw her enter this house this afternoon," Mrs. Blazes continued, "and then I heard that you were here—and on, darling, forgive me—I came to say on you." "Perfectly amazing!" Harry said to himself. "I'm in the primary class compared to her." "Why," the general said. "My own little pet!" He took his wife into his arms.

"Now," He said, "I'm Ready to Explain." "I—I forgive you! I want you to forgive me. The idea of giving you even a moment's unhappiness of that kind!" "I take me to home!" pleaded Mrs. Blazes, from the shelter of his shoulder. The twain, reunited, went slowly down the hall. Mr. Medders observed that Harry and Lucy looked as though they had something to say to each other, and said to the count: "The young man whom they call Pigeon is sitting in the summer house with Carolin and Cousin Socrates is again in the attic writing a sonnet. Will thou come in with me and see if thou can find a cigar?" "Then I will say farewell, until we meet again," Medders observed, shaking the count's hand and returning to the house. Count von Fitz stood before Harry and Lucy a moment.

"I want to say choost dis," he spoke. "I want to say 'Bless you, my children!' And I can't make a present off a hat, but if you will honor me, Mr. Swifton, by allowing Miss Lucy to accept a little token of my good wishes, I will gift her dis." He slipped his fingers into his pocket and produced a little case, which he opened and then took out a ring—not such a ring as either of the ones he had recovered—but a beautiful cluster of diamonds surrounding a ruby. "Dis," he said, "is a ring I was keeping to gift to der most beautiful, der sweetest, der truest girl I should find in America. I half found her—and now I lose her, because you found her, Mr. Swifton." He dropped the ring into Lucy's hand, and was gone. Harry led Lucy to a seat. "Now," he said, "I'm ready to explain."

"Say," Lucy said, happily. "Thee need not explain now, Harry, der I know all there would tell me of that Tell me something else." And he told her. THE END. Sweet Pea Not Royal Choice. In vain did gardeners and horticulturists in England try to push the claims of the sweet pea as a coronation flower. Queen Mary has decided that the pink carnation is the blossom she will carry. The Windsor, which is a deep pink, is the coronation she particularly favors, but the Lawson, a cerise carnation; the Enchantress, which is pale pink; and the Mrs. Joffe, which is salmon pink, will also be fashionable during the season. The Worshipful Company of Gardeners have begged to be allowed to present the coronation bouquet, and the queen has agreed to accept it from them, so they will keep the finest and most perfect Windsor carnations obtainable for the royal bouquet.

an Eye to Business. "John," said the butter dealer, "always put in a couple of sheets of paper when you weigh. Customers will think you neat and cleanly in your business. They don't like to have their butter slopped onto a scale that for all they know, has never been washed. And besides, there's a good profit in buying paper at three cents per pound and selling it for 18 cents."

Special Elections. Two special elections that became necessary through one resignation and the death of another official have been ordered for Nov. 7, the regular election day. Judge Weisinger ordered an election for a successor to the late J. H. Browning, who was Magistrate in the Seventh district, and was temporarily succeeded by Morris B. Gifford, under appointment of Gov. Wilson. Sheriff Emmer has received from Frankfort the order for an election made by Acting Gov. Bruner, on September 18, for a successor to Judge Shackelford Miller, who resigned as Judge of the First Chancery Court, and was temporarily succeeded by Judge R. W. Bingham, under the appointment of the Governor.

"Dr. Miles' Nervine Raised Me From the Grave"—Mrs. Taylor

This is a strong statement to make, but it is exactly what Mrs. Thomas Taylor, of Blum, Texas, said in expressing her opinion of this remedy. "Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine raised me from the grave and I have no confidence in it. I can say as much for your grand medicine. If anyone had offered me $1000 for the second bottle of Nervine that I used I would have said 'no' indeed." MRS. THOMAS TAYLOR, Blum, Tex. Nervous exhaustion is a common occurrence of modern life. The wear and tear on the nervous system is greater now than at any time since the world began. For sleeplessness, poor appetite and that "run down" feeling, nothing is so good as Dr. Miles' Nervine. Your nerves are your life and lack of vital energy makes existence a misery. Dr. Miles' Nervine will tone up your nervous system. Ask any druggist. Use the first bottle to benefit, your money is returned. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one drop of disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have found fault in curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. ## DRY RIDGE

Correspondent Writes Interesting News Letter.

Compliments Young Men of Dry Ridge Community—Personal And Other News of Interest.

Dry Ridge, Sept. 25.—The contest is over and the result seems to have been fine, both for The Jeffersonian and the three girls who won; while those who did not win have the satisfaction of knowing they helped their country paper and are out nothing but their time spent in soliciting, which, after all, I suspect was rather pleasantly spent. Personally, I was sorry, as was the rest of Dry Ridge, that Miss Allie B. Meyer was not one of the successful ones. Not that we know Allie B. very well, for we don't, but because her dead mother was born, reared and died near here and was one of those dear, good girls whom every one liked.

Model Young Men.
Roy Reid and wife have purchased the Billingsworth farm, as was told in this paper last week. We wish them every success in their new home, but it is with a feeling of deep regret and sadness that we think of their going. Dry Ridge never reared a better boy nor a more perfect gentleman than Roy Reid, and if there is any one thing that Dry Ridge should be especially proud of it is the fact that young men of his age that finished the common school here six or eight years ago. There were the three Shakes boys, Benson, Wig and Adams; the two Cartwrights boys, John and Billie; the two Cartwrights boys, Victor and Robert; the two Carlinas boys, Willie and Walter; Roy Reid, Gay Bygton, Hickman Harris, Walter Blackwell and Freddie Morley, all of whom deserve special mention. Not a drunkard, gambler nor libertine among them. Only one dead, the rest all honest, upright, fine young men, and if all Kentucky could produce such men as these it could never be said of her:

Praise For Wilsonville Correspondent.
We hope the good letters from Wilsonville will continue to appear, at least every other week, for all of us are so constituted that what we are joy most in a country paper is to read of those we know. All of us enjoy hearing from that point because they are near us and we know them. I remember when The Jeffersonian first made its appearance Mr. Barrickman was very anxious to secure news letters from the present correspondent at Wilsonville, as he had seen her letters to the Spencer Courier and passed this complaint on them. He said her hand writing, her grammar and her composition were nearly letter-perfect and the best he had ever seen. This coming from Mr. Barrickman, (and I am sure Mr. Alcock agrees with him) made it a compliment indeed.

Lost Art.
Bye the way, a friend of mine living here, but nearly as much at fault in Jeffersonstown, who writes beautifully, says she has forgotten the art of letter-writing and does not even feel like to write a note. I am sorry to see such a waste of talent.

Real Estate Transfers.
Quite a number of changes have taken place in real estate around here recently. Mrs. Burford has bought the "Lew Jones" farm and Adam Shake purchased fifty-eight acres from Mr. Snyder. Mr. Billie Johnson has given his daughter, Ida, who is now Mrs. Jenkins, fifty acres of his farm, where she and her husband contemplate building soon. Mr. Ernest Shelburne, of Fern Creek, has purchased a farm near Whitfield and W. W. Reid, of Louisville, has sold his tract of land on Back Run to Mr. Easley.

Mrs. Jake Boston and daughters and grandson, Guy Boston, spent a delightful day yesterday with Mr. Reece Heady and family, of near Eastwood.

Mrs. Burdine Bridwell and daughter, accompanied by Mrs. Laura Carrithers, of Indiana, had a most enjoyable visit with the former's parents in Jeffersonstown the last of the week.

Mr. Roy Reid and wife and Miss Annie Reid, in company with several others, spent yesterday with Mrs. Edie Miller.

Mr. Hope, of Valley Station, was the proud visitor of his little granddaughter, Mary E. Carrithers, yesterday, and of course, incidentally, he came to see the rest of the family.

Mr. Theo. Hardman and wife paid a visit recently to Roy Reid and family. While there Miss Annie Reid took them to King's church to visit the graves of their father and mother. Mrs. Sophia Shake and son, Pennie, entertained yesterday in their usual pleasant way. Those present were Mrs. Morley and son, Fred, M. G. Boston and family, Adam Shake, wife and child, Virginia Drake and W. L. Shake.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Harris spent yesterday afternoon with Mr. Bob Reid and family. Mr. Reid is not at all well, but we hope he will not have time and one feels ill at this time of the year.

Mrs. M. G. Boston had as all-day guests last week Mrs. Jake Boston and daughters, Mrs. Roy Reid, Misses Katie and Lena Orenshaw, Miss Annie Reid and Mrs. Harline Bridwell.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Wargentine attended church at Fisherville yesterday and dined with Mr. and Mrs. Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch Tennant attended Miss Mary Cedar Springs and dined with Dr. and Mrs. Pundt.

Mr. Burdine Bridwell and family spent yesterday afternoon with Mr. Huie Money and family.

Mrs. Lucy Wheeler, of Louisville, is visiting her old neighbors here.

Mrs. Jake Fleck entertained Mrs. Sophia Shake and Mrs. Arthur Tyler and children on Friday.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Wheeler are spending today with Mrs. Morley.

Miss Virginia Drake is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Adam Shake.

State S.-S. Convention.
Three hundred pastors, three hundred delegates and three hundred schools and five hundred teachers in our Sunday-schools are expected at the State Sunday-school Convention in Louisville, October 19-22.

Miss Mary Cedar Springs of Mayfield will tell the story of the San Francisco Convention. Miss Wilson told the story of the World's Convention at the State Convention last year and all who heard it pronounced it the finest description of a convention they had ever heard. This one will be equally as good.

Noted Speakers at Convention.
Among the many who will make addresses and take part in the conferences at the State Sunday-school Convention, Louisville, Oct. 19-22, may be mentioned Mr. J. Shreve Durham, of Chicago, Rev. Wm. Dresel, of Cincinnati, Mr. D. McGehee, of Indianapolis, President E. Y. Mullins, Baptist Theological Seminary; President C. R. Hemphill, Presbyterian Theological Seminary; Rev. Richard Wilson, Fourth Avenue Methodist church; Rev. Roger T. Nooe, Crescent Hill Christian church; Rev. Aquila Webb, Warren Memorial Presbyterian church; Rev. T. M. Hawes, Highland Presbyterian church; Preston B. Wells, Broadway Methodist church; C. C. Stoll, member international committee, Mr. Walter E. Frazee, Sunday-school evangelist, Christian church, Rev. W. T. Capers, of the Episcopal church, Lexington; Mr. Lucius Wagoner, Danville; Mrs. E. B. Anderson, Owensboro; Miss Jessie Weaver, Ashland; Miss Annie Lee Frayer and Miss Madeline Reager, of Louisville.

All information in regard to entertainment of delegates to the Kentucky Sunday-school Convention, Louisville, Oct. 19-22, can be secured by addressing Mr. Huston Quin, 712 Louisville Trust Building, Louisville, Kentucky.

Farm Foultry.
Most farmers refuse to feed chickens all they need, saying they must hustle for a living. This is a mistake. Of course, chickens with a free range on a farm can pick up a great deal, enough to keep them growing some, but not sufficient to fully develop them. The earlier the youngsters can be made into hens the sooner they will begin to lay. Early hatched pullets should be laying in October and should keep at it all winter. But to do this they must have the right kind of food and plenty of it at least twice a day. They can get enough insects, grasshoppers, etc., to furnish the meat ration, but it tires them out to be running over the fields and they should have a good feed of wheat and corn in the evening.

Forced to Leave Home.
Every year a large number of poor sufferers, whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs, are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "I cured me of lung trouble," writes W. Nelson, of Calumet, Ark.; "when all else failed and I gained 47 pounds in weight. It's surely the king of all cough and lung cures." Thousands are their lives and health to it. It's positively guaranteed for coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, all throat and lung troubles. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at all drug stores.

THE BETROTHAL—AFTERWARD

Bring down the old cigar box, not for a Cuba rare.

But since to remember Maggie I keep all her letters there.

Letters that say she loved me, postscripts that never fail To think my joy in smoking and ask me if I inhale.

Then came the ultimatum—she's to have no smoke in her room. So I wrote her a sweet dismissal and ordered another box.

"A woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke!" I wrote, and the fates were laughing at thought of their little joke.

For I had been puffed of Portagea a matter of seven years. And now I am out of the priesthood and only a simple poet.

'Twas scarcely a short month after the doctors bade me to cease, And Maggie has wed another, and I am the Duke of Geese.

No take up the old cigar box and put it back on the shelf. For women have changed their manners, and Maggie now smokes herself.

—Harold E. Fowler in Life.

In the Silly Night.

"Harriet, was that an explosion in the subway?"

"No; I think it was Angelina kissing George good night."

A Libelous Statement.

"Is it true that you have shooting scraps in this town?" a Cleveland asked, who was taking a vacation trip in the southwest.

"Ain't you Easterners got over them stories yet?" sneered the bartender, who represented public opinion. "You fellows is sure plain ignorant. No, ef. There's jest such trouble as might eventuate anywhere, no more and often even less, as the poet says."

But I heard that Three Fingered Jack shot a man full of holes yesterday because the man refused to take a drink with him."

"That there's a base libel on Jack an' the community, which we are all prepared to avenge. If ain't so, stranger—there ain't a word of truth in it!"

"Excuse me—but I saw the man being carried out."

"Suppose you did? Jack never shot him because he wouldn't accept a drink. No, ef, we're plenty civilized in this camp. Jack shot him because he wouldn't buy a drink, which is some different, and wouldn't to offer eastern customs, stranger, it's yore turn."—Cleveland Dealer.

The Girl's Handicap.

In her pretty new frock Sister Mabel felt quite proud as she sat on the front step and watched some boys playing on the sidewalk.

After a time one little boy came up to talk to her and to admire in his rough little way her bright, shiny shoes and pink suit.

"See my nice square cut waist," exclaimed the girl, "and my nice coral beads! Don't you wish you was a girl?"

"No, s'f," replied the boy. "I wouldn't want to be any girl at all, because lookie how much more neck you haf to wash."—Youngstown Telegram.

Never Said It.

"I hear you have been saying you would take great delight in attending my funeral."

"I have never said anything of the kind."

"I think I should prefer to believe the man who told me."

"Very well, believe him if you like, but I never said it. I should think of putting myself to be seen at your funeral."—Chicago Record-Herald.

How We Wish.

That we could hear her say, "My dear, the furnace fire has gone out again."

Or, "My dear, do please close that door. I've been nearly frozen all day."

Or even, "Are you never going to shored off that snow?"

Or even this, "I've simply got to have a new set of furs."—Detroit Free Press.

A Serious Job.

"Wombat sent over to my house just now for my encyclopedia. All the poetry books I had and all history of the world in seven volumes."

"What does he want with all that literature?"

"Wants to name a pair of twins."—Washington Herald.

Hot Weather Horror.

"Snoodle, every time I see you now, says you have just moved into some cheaper flat. What's the idea?"

"No idea at all, Gluppins. I'm merely following along the line of e-r-least resistance."—Chicago Tribune.

Bad as Matpins.

He tired of dodging—Would you marry a one-eyed man? She—Good gracious, no! He—Then let me carry your umbrella.—Boston Transcript.

In the Soup.

Lessons Taught.

The dry summer has emphasized several things that our farmers would do well to remember. One is the necessity of being able to supplement the pasture in a season like the present. To have a green crop of some kind growing that can be fed to stock while pasture is dry. Another is the silo, which is common in the north and so seldom seen south of the Ohio river. Feed of all kinds will be scarce and high this winter, but there has been ample time after this fact was known to have raised a late crop of corn, sorghum, cow peas, or other things to have filled the silos if they had been here. Another thing the drought has shown. The farmer who has plowed wisely and persistently will have a fair crop of corn despite the dry weather. A farmer told us of two farmers in the county and their different methods of cultivation. One used a large plow and plowed deep, tearing off the roots of the corn in the old-fashioned way. The other plowed shallow and kept it. The latter will raise ten barrels of corn to the acre, while his neighbor just over the fence will not raise half that amount on better ground. Other lessons have been taught by the drought which will pay our farmers to remember and profit by.

BREVITIES

Democratic Meeting.
Hon. Joe Haffaker will speak at a Democratic meeting to be held at Highland Park tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

Operated Upon For Appendicitis.
Miss Lida Baker, daughter of Mrs. Cora Baker, of Fern Creek, was taken to the Children's Free Hospital in Louisville Monday of last week, where she was operated upon for appendicitis.

Married in Jeffersonstown.
Mr. Paul Werft, of Louisville, and Miss Bertha E. Ruckey, of Fisherville, were united in marriage by Rev. W. L. Hartig yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in his residence in Jeffersonstown.

Revival at Christian Church.
A series of revival meetings will begin at the Jeffersonstown Christian church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. T. S. Tinsley, the pastor, will be assisted in the work by Rev. W. L. Hartig, who is an expert singer of Gospel songs. The public will be given a cordial welcome at all services.

Became Suddenly Insane.
Robert Scott, 28 years old, became suddenly insane, it is said, at the home of Mr. Steve Beard, of Fisherville, with whom he had been staying for the past two weeks. Scott is a nephew of Mr. Beard, who has been seriously ill for several weeks. According to reports Scott attempted to kill his uncle, and it took five men to bind him. Myers & Blankenbaker, local undertakers, were notified and used one of their wagons in conveying Scott to the county jail.

Important Land Sale.
An auction sale of interest to citizens of this community is advertised by E. R. Sprout to take place Saturday afternoon, Oct. 7, when he will sell the improved property of W. T. Lindale, three acres at G. C. Aleck and another nice piece of property in Livingston Heights. All of the property is very desirable and the location is as good as can be found. It will be well to not overlook this sale.

Mrs. Wm. Rupp Entertains.
Mrs. Wm. Rupp had as her Saturday night guests Mr. and Mrs. Diller, Marguerite, Gertrude and Carrie Davis. They were joined Sunday afternoon by Messrs. Wm. Dietz, Robert Davenport and Albert Jagers. After a jolly ramble through the woods for fall wild flowers and golden red the rest of the evening was spent in singing and playing. All reported a good time.

Back From Indiana.
Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Rapson, who have been living in Indianapolis for the past seven years, are removing to the farm on the Tucker Station road near Jeffersonstown recently rented from Mr. G. B. Gillette. Mr. Rapson has been a conductor for the Big Four Railroad company, but his love for old Kentucky has caused him to give it up, and he will engage in farming. He says old Kentucky is good enough for him.

Elected Stewards of Church.
At an adjourned session of the quarterly meeting of the Jeffersonstown Methodist church, held last Saturday the following were elected: Thos. Gunn, A. A. Bridwell, Carl Hummel and Hewitt Hunsinger. These are all new members, with the exception of Mr. Gunn. Other business of financial nature was disposed of. Rev. W. P. Gordon, in the absence of the Presiding Elder, presided. Mr. Gordon left for Greenville Tuesday to be present at the annual conference of the Louisville District.

Entertained at Glenview.
Glenview, Sept. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Nick Brown entertained at dinner Sunday. Covers were laid for the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kyser, of Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. William Fishback and daughter, Mollie, of Fern Creek, Rev. Wauford, Mr. H. Hevins, Rev. Kirk, Mrs. Mollie A. Fishback and grandson, Roy Kincaid, all of Louisville; Chester Tyler, of Albion, and Lela and Adrian Brown, of Glenview. All present had a delightful time.

Send Delegates to S.-S. Convention.
Rev. Geo. A. Joplin, general secretary of the Kentucky Sunday-school Association, writes that the people of Louisville are making preparation for at least one thousand delegates at the State Convention, Oct. 19-22. Write to, the State Office, 1122 Louisville Trust Building for full information. Every Sunday-school in the state is entitled to a delegate. We want our county to have a large delegation.

New Linguistic Stock.
Prof. A. F. Chamberlain believes that he has demonstrated that the language of the Trus, or Piquians, dwelling in the region of Lake Titicaca, on the borders of Peru and Bolivia, constitutes an independent family of speech. A vocabulary of some hundreds of words and many phrases and sentences of this curious language have been collected. A few descendants of the ancient Trus, some of whom still retain their mother tongue, are found scattered along the Rio Dosaguadero, between Lake Titicaca and Lake Anahuas, or Poopo, and it is evident that in the past they occupied a much wider territory between these lakes—YOUTH'S Companion.

For Dearly Young Men.
The will of Mrs. Grace R. Shaw provides for the establishment of a fund of $35,000 to Harvard University, to be called the Henry Russell Shaw fund, the income of which is to enable graduates of the college to travel abroad. The award is not based on scholarship. She said in the will that she gave the money for the benefit of young men who had not attained high scholarship, but had made good use of their opportunities and gave promise of success in business or professional careers.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hardy and Misses Isabelle and Lydia Hardy left Wednesday for their new home at Boston, Ky.

Mrs. E. T. Mitchell and Mrs. R. S. Mitchell were guests of Mrs. Ed. Roman Wednesday.

Mrs. Whitehead of Louisville gave a lecture at the Methodist church Sunday evening upon "Worldwide Missions."

The Ladies' Aid of the Christian church met with Mrs. L. E. Axtell.

Mrs. Egan Jones is visiting relatives at Champagne, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Weatherbe entertained at dinner Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Weatherbe, Misses Lucy and Loris Weatherbe and Miss Kate Orton.

Summer of nineteen hundred and eleven is gone—gone for good. Never will there be another like it, for they are each different. Now it is autumn.

That sweetly sad time when we hear the dropping of the leaves and when the drowsy confusion from the dead tree limbs. You bitterly that fits by on gaily wings, as a relic of summer, but its time is short. Out in the corn fields the fall corn in the ear is ripened for the farmer's bin.

Summer has finished her task; these cool still nights of autumn; the possum is out in the moonlight night, under the persimmon trees—for this is Fall.

No Need To Stop Work.

When your doctor orders you to stop work, it staggers you. "I can't," you say. You know you are weak, run-down and failing in health day by day, but you must work as long as you can stand. What you need is Electric Bitters to give tone, vigor and strength to your system, to prevent breakdown and build you up. Don't be weak, sickly or ailing when Electric Bitters will benefit you from the first dose. Thousands bless them for their glorious health and strength. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c at all druggists.

THE FINEST DAIRY

How It Compares With Nearest Schoolhouse.

DAIRY COW VERSUS CHILD.

Great Contrast Between the Care and Thought Bestowed Upon Each Near Lexington—Palace For Jersey School "Out at the Elbow."

I had not had time to get my luggage together and draw a long breath after leaving the train at Lexington before I was asked:

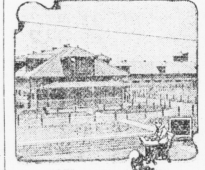

"Ever been out to Haggin's?"

"No," I answered, rather breathlessly and dazed. Then I gathered myself together and answered at a venture.

"Oh, you mean the place outside of Lexington where Henry Clay was born, don't you?"

"Heavens, no! It's the biggest and finest thing in the way of a dairy farm in the world. You know it's owned by Mr. Haggin of New York city."

I went out to the great dairy farm in the trucky car-west past Lexington.

FOR THE JERSEY COWS.

ton's beautiful new Country club and splendid residences, surrounded by magnificent old forest trees.

Too much cannot be said or written about this wonderful dairy farm of Mr. Haggin's. The creamery, where the milk is cooled, bottled and double sealed for delivery in Lexington, is an artistic building of rough stone. The huge dairy barn is of concrete, brick and tile, which gives it the appearance of some splendid county institution. Men in immaculate white uniforms were moving about the barn getting ready to milk the 425 registered Jersey cows that would soon be brought in from the hundreds of acres of blue grass over which they roam.

Glancing at the doors and windows, I saw that they were covered with screening to keep out the flies, while water pipes and hose were everywhere to insure absolute cleanliness. I was very much impressed with the beauty, comfort and magnitude of everything I saw, so as I left the farm I asked:

"Where do you get this tremendous supply of water? I saw hose and piping everywhere and a huge tower by the creamery."

"We have a complete pumping plant across country on the far edge of the farm at Russell's cave."

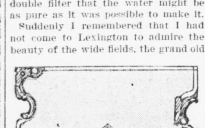

I drove to Russell's cave and found a perfect pumping outfit, even to a double filter that the water might be as pure as it was possible to make it. Suddenly I remembered that I had not come to Lexington to admire the beauty of the wide fields, the grand old homes or Mr. Haggin's great dairy farm, but to look carefully at the schoolhouses. I turned to the man in charge of the engines and pumps and asked the distance to the nearest schoolhouse. It was not an eighth of a mile away from the pumping station and was a decided contrast architecturally. Although I had seen walks, concrete walks, in every direction about the Haggin barn, there was no semblance of a walk from the front gate to the badly patched wooden steps that were intended to lead the children along the primrose path of knowledge. Everything was "out at the elbow."

The contrast between the care and thought bestowed upon a dairy cow and a child was here sharp and distinct. The dairyman could see and figure the direct and immediate return in hard dollars and cents when his cows are luxuriously treated, but he could not or would not try to see into the future of the children and measure the return from an investment in schools.

The citizenship of a community is as good or as bad as its schools make it.

FOR THE CHILDREN.
